

Where to Take a Long Weekend This Labor Day

By Annie Roderique-Jones

Labor Day's three-day weekend is the perfect chance for one last getaway before summer ends. From wine trails to breezy beaches, it's not too late to book your trip. Here are a trio of ideas to end summer on a memorable note.

IF YOU LIKE... WINE

What to do: Tour the North Fork wineries in Long Island

How to get there: Take the Hampton Jitney

Where to stay: Shinn Estate Vineyards and Farmhouse is perfectly positioned for touring your choice of the 40-plus wineries on the North Fork. The owners, Barbara Shinn and David Page, are incredibly passionate about the biodynamic wines that are produced on-site at their lush 20-acre vineyard. After a day of tastings (we recommend Bedell Cellars, Channing Daughters Winery, and Lieb Family Cellars), you'll appreciate the creature comforts at Shinn—each of the four rooms are dressed with soothing, neutral linens and modern furnishings. Come morning, Page, a former New York City chef and restaurateur, will whip up a hot breakfast of fresh eggs from the garden's own chickens. 2000 Oregon Road, Mattituck, 631-804-0367
